(Miami, FL) August 15--Dr. Mark K. Sachs is the only doctor in the world allowed to train other doctors and medical professionals to use a newly developed laser for the most advanced form of laser body sculpting. The new "smarter" laser is called the Syneron LipoLite.

An expert in his field for his innovative approach to cosmetic and weight loss medicine, Dr. Sachs is excited to bring this new laser to help patients. Dr. Sachs says, "This new laser, unlike others, can be utilized to etch deeper into fat to better frame the buttock. The patient will find the procedure to be extremely comfortable and more efficacious. No other laser in the world can match its performance. This new laser is quicker, safer and more effective than the rest, helping Dr. Sachs to give you that full, perfectly lifted buttock.

Dr. Sachs not only uses the Syneron LipoLite laser he combines this with fat transfer utilizing the micro-injection technique. This is where he harvests fat from an area of fat excess, usually the hips, thighs or flank and transfers it to the buttock via the use of many small volume fat injections. This allows him to latterly sculpt you a new buttock that is curvier, fuller and lifted. No other physician in Miami combines the LipoLite Laser to frame the buttock with the micro-injection technique for transferring fat.
